

Royal Shell Companies Announce Sponsorship of Newest Book, "Visions of Beauty," and Raise Money for CROW

Don Deluca, Vice-President and general counsel of Royal Shell, holds the $24,000 check presented to CROW. To Don's left are Steve Greenstein, Executive Director of CROW, Susan Tucker, President of CROW, and Amber McNamara, CROW veterinarian. To the right are Randy Bacik, CEO of Royal Shell Vacations, and Alan Maltz.

The Royal Shell Companies, in conjunction with the Sanibel-Captiva Chamber of Commerce, held their Chamber After Hours at Ellington's Jazz Club and Restaurant. The event's highlight was the official introduction of a new photographic art book by Alan S. Maltz. A portion of the proceeds for "Visions of Beauty - Fort Myers, Sanibel & Beyond..." coffee table book sales and auction went to benefit CROW (Clinic for the Rehabilitation of Wildlife). This non-profit veterinary hospital is one of the nation's leading wildlife rehabilitation hospitals for tropical native and migratory wildlife.

Randy Bacik, CEO of Royal Shell Vacations, stated "When Alan approached the companies of Royal Shell to be the official sponsor for his latest book, we could not have been more pleased. We are honored that Alan chose the Royal Shell Companies."

Alan and his work

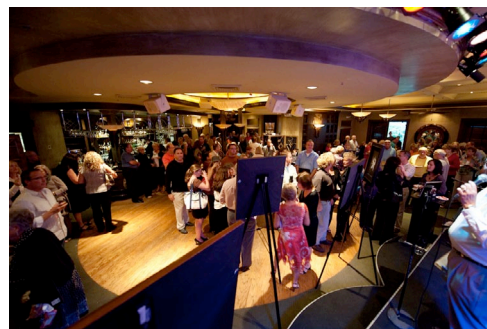

Sharon Wise, co-owner of Ellington's, and Charlie Sobczak, author of the forward in "Visions of Beauty"

Tyrone Humbles, Alan S. Maltz Gallery, and Jillian Algrin, co-owner of Ellington's

Alan with Barb Harrington and Kris Slagle from Royal Shell Properties.

The crowd of more than 350 people listened to live jazz and enjoyed delicious hors d'ouvres